Ray Middleton, singer-actor who has starred on stage, screen, TV and radio, attended his first rehearsal for the pageant "Mr. Lincoln Goes to Gettysburg," at the Western Maryland freight house Wednesday night.

2-Year-Old Girl Who Lived Here In '63 Is Coming Back

A former Gettysburgian, now living in Baltimore, who was two years old, she says, at the time of the Battle of Gettysburg, will re-visit the scenes of her childhood Saturday afternoon during the 100th anniversary celebration of the Western Maryland today.

She is Miss Susan T. McClain, now 91, of 868 Park Ave., Baltimore. The Sun story that her family lived in part of the house on Baltimore St. where Jennie Wade was killed during the battle was corroborated today by Burgess William G. Weaver, who operates the Jennie Wade Museum in the same building.

Burgess Weaver said the McClain family lived on the south side of the house, and the McClains on the north side. Jennie (Mary Virginia) Wade's sister was the wife of a Union soldier named McClain.

The McClellan - McClain house was between the fire of Union and Confederate forces.

"On the second day of the battle a confederate shell went through the roof," Burgess Weaver said, "and through a partition, but failed to explode. Jennie Wade was baking bread in the kitchen on the McClain side and was killed by a bullet which came through the door."

"Union soldiers enlarged the hole made by the shell and the body of Jennie Wade was carried to the McClain side and into the cellar, where the families remained until the afternoon of July 4, when Jennie's body was taken out and buried in the yard. It was later re-interred in Evergreen Cemetery."

Miss McClain recalls being told of the incident. She now resides with her 71-year-old niece, Miss Hope Williams.

Cost Less This Year

June Breighner was accepted as a new member of the club at Wednesday's meeting, bringing to 28 the number of youngsters in the club for the coming year. Of that number 19 will have Angus steers and nine Herefords.

Prices of cattle are lower this year than last, the members discovered in paying for the calves Wednesday night. The Angus steer group obtained their calves at an average price of 32 cents a pound, or 15 cents a pound less than the amount they had to pay for their baby beefs last October. The Herefords were obtained at an average price of 35 cents a pound.

Assistant County Farm Agent Fred H. Attinger, in reporting the cost of the steers to the members, said 2,000,000 additional calves coming on the market this year in comparison to last year has forced down the price, while at the same time the market for feed steers, ready to be made into prime beef, has remained fairly high.

Yankees Mow Down Chinese Reds On Crest Of Korean Hill

SEOUL (AP) — American machine gunners, crouching behind barbed wire barricades, today mowed down waves of Chinese Reds storming the crest of Triangle Hill on the Central Korean Front.

Savage fighting also swirled across the crest of rocky Pinpoint Hill, dominant peak on nearby Sniper Ridge. Twice the Reds stormed to the top and wrested control in bloody close-quarter fighting. Each time the South Koreans surged back and won the height.

Allied warplanes swarmed overhead and peeled off in trip-hammer blows. U. N. artillery blasted Chinese approach routes and raked towering Papa-san Mountain, the Chinese jumpoff point just to the north.

Seventh Division troops captured the last of three Chinese-held knobs on Triangle Thursday afternoon but a Red counterattack forced them off one. The Americans won the knob in a 90-minute fight. The Chinese stormed back with heavy machine gun and mortar fire and forced the GIs 400 yards down the slope.

Early Thursday morning the Reds pushed through the ROK defenses and gained momentary control of the crest of Sniper Ridge. The South Koreans rallied and stormed back to the top.

Just before dawn a Chinese battalion struck again, facing the South Koreans back 200 yards. Again the ROKs rallied and counterattacked. They battled the Chinese hand to hand and finally drove them off at 9:30 a.m.

An Allied officer at the front said the South Koreans had restored all their positions at noon and were digging in against further expected Chinese onslaughts.

Admission to the 8 o'clock show will be by ticket only, while admission can be obtained without tickets for the second show—at 9:30 o'clock.

Approximately 7,000 FFA members gathered there saw it presented in the Civic Auditorium. General Motors made "Farmer of Tomorrow" in recognition of the outstanding work being done by FFA boys for themselves and their communities, and to further cement the close-knit relationship between industry and agriculture, a General Motors spokesman said.

STUDY TURKEY BREEDING PLAN

Roy Heckenluber, Biglerville R. D., has been named permanent chairman of a committee of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation planning program for artificial insemination of turkeys.

Appointment of Heckenluber was made at a recent meeting of the state federation at which it was announced that artificial insemination for turkeys will probably be available to Pennsylvania producers of hatching eggs next year. Heckenluber is a past president of the state organization and is president of the Adams County Federation of Poultrymen.

Heckenluber said that the state Poultry Federation will notify its members of the plans for insemination as they are formulated and non-members may obtain information by writing Thomas Moncrief, Hanover, secretary of the federation.

Poultry scientists, Heckenluber said, have announced that in some flocks artificial insemination may raise egg fertility 100 per cent or more. In the case of experimental flocks at State College, he said, natural breeding resulted in 80 per cent fertility; artificial insemination produced 90 per cent fertility and 95 per cent fertility resulted from using the two methods in combination.

Artificial insemination should prove most successful in such strains as the new broad breasted strains that have been bred for type and in which fertility as low as 30 to 35 per cent is common.

Warriors Need Victory Over Greyhounds To Stay In Race

Only three South Penn Conference games are listed for Friday night but all will have important roles in the wild scramble for championship honors by at least six teams.

Gettysburg High invades Shippensburg for a battle with the victory-less Greyhounds and should return a winner.

Shippensburg has lost conference games as follows: Hershey, 0-25; Hanover, 6-26; Chambersburg, 0-31, and a non-conference tilt to Washington Township, 12-13, current leaders of the Laurel Conference.

Friday's contest will mark the 25th game between the schools in a series begun in 1920. During that time the Warriors have won 16, lost six, while two ended in ties.

The Warriors can ill afford to take the coming contest lightly as an upset would definitely eliminate them in their bid for a second straight conference championship. At times the Greyhounds have flashed pretty good form. In their game with Hanover they held the strong Nighthawks to a 6-6 draw for three periods but then wilted in the final period.

Couch Howard Shoemaker revealed today that Ronnie Williams, fullback, who missed the Waynesboro game, will be ready for part-time duty. His return will be welcome, particularly due to the absence of Bobby Rohrbaugh because of a death in the family. Bobby Miller, star ball totter, has been nursing a minor injury but is expected to be ready for play. Roger Crouse, lineman, has also been hampered by an injury.

The top league attraction will be staged at Chambersburg where Hanover will play The Trojans, with a 2-0 loop mark, are favored and if victorious will take over first place regardless of what the Warriors, present leaders, do at Shippensburg. A defeat for the Nighthawks will practically eliminate them.

Hershey, seeking to get back into the running, after losing to Chambersburg last week, is favored to win at Waynesboro.

In non-conference games Carlisle will be at Middletown and Mechanicsburg at New Cumberland.

Littletown High has an open date this week.

On Saturday Biglerville takes on Manheim Central in a Conference of the Roses game on the latter's field. After snapping a three-game losing streak by lacing West York last week 27-7, the Cannons hope to win their second straight for a season mark of 3-3.

Delone Catholic has a Sunday afternoon engagement, meeting York Catholic at York in a Harrisburg Diocesan contest. The Squires have a 1-4 record to date. This will be Delone's final game on foreign soil as the remaining four tilts will be played at McChesneytown.

Tonight Bolling Springs meets Susquehanna at Bolling Springs and will be seeking to inaugurate a new winning streak after being held to a tie by New Cumberland last week following a 21-game winning skid.

NCAA PROBING TEN SCHOOLS

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association, revealing that 10 schools are being investigated as code violators of varying degrees, will wind up a four-day parley today that paves the way to the group's national convention in January.

The closing session of the NCAA policy-directing council is expected to include a report on television. Hugh C. Willett of Southern California, NCAA president, said he did not know if the TV Committee will submit a 1953 program at this time.

The TV matter has been warmed up to an issue by a recent charge by Edward (Moose) Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, that the NCAA had a "share the wealth" TV proposal ready to operate next year.

The NCAA admitted it was contemplating a long-range plan to allocate TV proceeds to members which might accrue from a subscription TV program in the future. But it said nothing definite had been planned at this time.

Identity of the 10 colleges and universities accused of violations is being withheld.

Managers of seven of the league teams as well as league officers also attended the dinner.

BC MENTOR GETS NEW CONTRACT

NEWTON, Mass., (AP)—Mike Holovak, a native of Lansford, Pa., and Boston College's head football coach, has been tendered a new three-year contract that will become effective at the end of the current season.

One of the youngest head coaches in the major college ranks, at 32, Holovak has been operating on a year-to-year basis since he succeeded Denny Myers after the 1950 season.

At that time Holovak had directed two Boston College freshman teams through undefeated seasons. One of Boston College's greatest players, Holovak was an All-American full back in 1942. As a sophomore, he was a star on the B. C. team that Frank Leahy directed to an upset 19-13 win over Tennessee in the 1941 Sugar Bowl Game.

Nebraska To Use Soph Against State

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—Coach Bill Glassford has chosen a 19-year-old sophomore from Rapid City, S. D., to replace Bob Reynolds in the Nebraska starting lineup against Penn State at State College, Pa., Saturday.

The left halfback starter is Bill Thayer, who has a reputation as a breakaway runner, but who has not had much opportunity to show his wares in a game.

He has been used mostly for Kick-off and punt returns.

Reynolds, a 1950 All-America, is out for the season with a shoulder injury.

SCHOOL TEAMS WORRYING OVER UPSET BATTLES

By BEN FRENCH
HARRISBURG (AP)—Leading conference contenders meet upset-minded opponents this weekend as Pennsylvania's schoolboy football campaign reaches the halfway mark.

The week end's top game matches Lewistown against Lock Haven, two unbeaten Western Conference aspirants. Lock Haven, with only two league victories, is leading the official ratings of the 53-school loop but Lewistown, winner of 14 games in a row enters the game as a two-touchdown favorite.

The nationally televised and broadcast scrap at Chicago Stadium attracted only 5,283 fans at ringside, one of the smallest championship crowds on record. Carter and Salas each received $6,428 as a share in a net gate of $21,429. But each also picked up nearly $10,000 from television receipts.

Unanimous Decision

Carter's decision was overwhelming as he became the first lightweight to recapture the title since Lou Ambers did it against Henry Armstrong in 1939.

The official point-scoring showed Referee Frank Gilmer favoring Carter, 81-69, Judge James McManus, 82-68, and Judge Frank McAdams Jr., 84-66.

They awarded Salas the 11th and 12th rounds when the little Mexican rallied furiously and desperately to force Carter into the ropes several times.

But Carter was never hurt and not even severely jolted.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a little girl who always wore a red dress, coat and hat. She was known as Little Red Riding Hood. One Saturday afternoon she went into the woods to visit her grandmother—and missed all the football scores.

But she missed nothing. She had read these predictions and knew how all the games would come out. (Last week's record 44 correct, 12 incorrect for .736. The .736 also is the season's average.)

Michigan State Again
Michigan State over Syracuse: The Spartans, no matter which of his three teams Coach Biggie Munn plays, have been voted the nation's best, Syracuse, possibly the East's best, should make it interesting.

Maryland over Navy: Two unbeaten neighbors, and you know there is no brawl like a neighborhood brawl.

Oklahoma over Kansas: Primarily from habit. The Big Seven title rides on this one.

California over Santa Clara: California's great back is Johnny Olszewski, nicknamed Johnny O. After this game they will chant it "Oh Johnny!"

Picks Notre Dame To Lose
Georgia Tech over Auburn: Those Georgia Engineers are out to build a perfect season.

Duke over North Carolina State: Hardly more than a workout.

UCLA over Stanford: UCLA's defense, with Don Moorman as the big man, has yielded only two touchdowns in the first four games.

Purdue over Notre Dame: Mr. Dae Samuels to fill the air with footballs.

Southern California over Oregon State: The Trojans appear to have power enough to slay the jinx which so often hampers California teams in the Northwest.

Pittsburgh over Army: Two surprise winners of last Saturday collide. The Cadets not deep enough to corral the Panthers.

JIMMY CARTER REGAINS TITLE BY DECISION

CHICAGO (AP)—Gritty Lauro Salas, who left a job as signalman on the Mexican National Railway to take up boxing, left a switch open last night and Jimmy Carter expressed through to regain the world's lightweight championship.

The 24-year-old youth from Monterrey and Los Angeles showed an instinctive gameness in standing up to Carter's sharp shots. But that was about all.

The peppery little New York Negro, displaying a terrific left hook as his main weapon, made it look as easy as taking candy from a baby.

Ends Five-Month Reign

After 15 rounds, blood flowed from vicious gashes on both of Salas' eyebrows, a split lower lip and a battered nose.

His five-month reign as his country's only undisputed champion in ring history ended as abruptly as it began last May, when he lifted Carter's crown in Los Angeles.

The nationally televised and broadcast scrap at Chicago Stadium attracted only 5,283 fans at ringside, one of the smallest championship crowds on record. Carter and Salas each received $6,428 as a share in a net gate of $21,429. But each also picked up nearly $10,000 from television receipts.

Three Outfielders Shifted By Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies sold righthander Leo Cristante to Atlanta in the Southern Association yesterday and shifted two other minor league players.

Cristante, who was optioned by the Philadelphia National League club to Tulsa in 1952, won seven and lost 10 this past season.

Outfielder Clyde Schell, who was called back this year by the Phillies after being optioned to the Baltimore Orioles, was sent back to the International League club.

Jim Command, third baseman and part time outfielder, was recalled from Schenectady in the Eastern League and sent to Terre Haute in the Three-I League.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fairfield Community Fire Company will hold an underwear and accessory sale in the fire hall this evening.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Reformed Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Cluck. The highlight of the evening was a Bible quiz and hymn sing. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Cluck. At this time the members are asked to bring the materials for the bundles for "Another's Mother."

The Chambersburg Community Male Chorus will present a program of sacred music in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church Sunday evening, November 2, at 7:30 o'clock.

The property of Mrs. Helen Culbertson which was sold at public sale on Saturday was purchased by Dr. Ira Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hernon Hare are spending this week with Hare's nephew, Bussie Walters, who is stationed in North Carolina.

Cpl. Linn Kepner has returned to Washington after spending a furlough with his grandmother, Mrs. Blanche Linn.

Nosed Out Dykes
As it was, Stanky just nosed out Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics, who surprised by parlaying Bobby Shantz and Ferris Fain into a fourth-place finish for his team. It was only the second time in 19 years that an American League Philadelphia entry has finished in the first division.

Another scrappy American League manager, Bucky Harris of Washington, received enough consideration to be tied for fifth place with Chuck Dressen of Brooklyn, who did commendably with a lukewarm pitching staff. Harris steered his team into fifth place after he had almost a unanimous choice for the cellar in preseason pickings.

The Giants' Leo Durocher, Manager of the Year in 1951, received five votes and fourth place for almost as good a job this year.

MUSIAL, DOBY LEAD LEAGUES IN SLUGGING

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland's Larry Doby are wearing the 1952 major league slugging crowns today.

Final figures calculated by the Associated Press reveal that Musial accumulated 311 total bases in 578 at bats to pace the National League sluggers with a .538 average. Doby, producing 281 total bases in 519 trips to the plate, topped the American League with a .541 slugging percentage.

Musial's collection of 194 hits included 42 doubles, six triples and 21 home runs. Doby connected for 26 doubles, eight triples and 32 homers among his total of 143 safeties.

Hank Sauer Second
Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs finished right behind Musial for National League slugging supremacy with a mark of .529. Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski ranked third in the slugging parade with .510, followed by Ralph Kiner of the Pirates and Gil Hodges of the Dodgers, both tied for fourth at .500.

Young Mickey Mantle of the Yankees gained runnerup honors in the American League slugging standings with a .528 percentage.

Al Rosen of the Indians was third with .522, trailed by teammate tribunal in its 143 years of existence.

The ceremonies were under the auspices of the American Bar Assolatter shaking off two tacklers and racing the remaining 15 yards for a score. Jones place-picked the extra point.

ON HARBORING HATE

The harboring of hate has caused most of our wars, if not all of them. Even those wars which have been won because of the injustice of those who hated owe their inception to this one unholy thing of hate. This western world, those nations of the free world, all despise even the thought of war.

No nation of this free world wishes a war with Russia. Why then this continual propaganda of hate that Russia keeps alive. No one wants to see the Russian people in a war, and am sure the Russian people themselves have no desire for war. The wiping out of all hate would make of this world the paradise God meant it to be.

One of the cornerstones of the Christian religion is this admonition: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." If this became universal all armaments would speedily be dispensable! The simplest solutions, however, to great problems seem the ones that are resorted to last!
To hate is the curse of all life.
Unless it be to hate injustice and everything that discolors the dignity of man and his right to inherent freedom.

Harboring hate within one's heart is a destroyer of the finest elements in a human being. It has its evil effect upon the physical, mental, and spiritual values that should control every healthy and aspiring person. It is the enemy of all happiness wherever lodged.

In the life of Colonel Hutchinson, by his wife, I came across this line: "He was forgetful of nothing but injuries." If we are forgetful of hate we easily remember to love and to consider the frailties of others as we would like them to forget our own. In other words the Golden Rule hasn't gone out of fashion, nor will it ever go out! There is nothing glorious about war. Hate keeps it alive. The shortest of the commandments of Moses was: "Thou shalt not kill."

Harboring hate is to defeat the very purpose of life which is to live and let live. To love is the greatest of all privileges — to love God, nature and one's fellow man.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Quotations."

FIRST HEARTACHE
There were tears in her eyes as she wandered away.
As they were in her mother's, on just such a day.

For all mothers to weep seems world-over the rule
When the baby grows up and starts to school.

That turning her back for the first time appears An excusable reason for heartache and tears.
This first touch of grief every mother has known:
Time to take him to school and to come back alone.

It was so long ago when her schooling began,
And so it will be when he's grown to a man.
When his baby's mother some morning must rise
To take him to school, there'll be tears in her eyes.

NIXON, WARREN, TAFT, SPARKMAN CONTINUE TOURS

By The Associated Press

GOP Vice presidential candidate Richard Nixon today carries his campaign to Indiana; his Democratic opponent, John J. Sparkman stumps the Pittsburgh area; Sen. Robert A. Taft talked up the GOP ticket at rallies in Omaha and Norfolk, Neb.; and Vice President Barkley speaks in Milwaukee and Sheboygan.

Republicans got an assist from California's Gov. Earl Warren, appearing in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee spoke up for the Democrats at Wellsville, O.

Late returns from Alaska's Tuesday general election indicated the territory apparently returned Democratic delegate E. L. Bartlett to Congress, but had elected a Republican legislator. Latest count—with some races so close a few votes could change the outcome—gave Republicans 26 out of Alaska's 33 seats. Democrats now hold 20 seats, Republicans 13.

Nixon Likes Michigan

Nixon said he was pleased with his reception in Michigan, where yesterday he blamed the Democrats for letting U. S. Reds infiltrate the United Nations. He told a Muskegon audience last night
"we've got to have a man who can not be fooled by the Communists—and that man is Gen. Dwight D.
Eisenhower."

Sparkman at Ridgely, Pa., said the GOP is riding "the four horsemen" of fear—fear of depression, inflation, corruption and communism—Korean. But he said,
"Americans are not a fearful people" and will choose leaders who offer programs of hope.

Taft stumped Utah yesterday attempting to unite his pre-convention supporters behind Eisenhower.
He delivered blistering attacks upon administration foreign policy and "corruption in government," and defended the Taft-Hartley Labor Act before good-sized crowds in Ogden and Salt Lake City.

He said to hear President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson tell
"You'd think the world began 20 years ago."

Barkley Talks
Vice President Barkley told a Democratic rally at St. Cloud, Minn., yesterday that the present administration had changed a nation of "16 million unemployed selling pencils and apples in 1932 into a nation of 63 million persons gainfully employed today" and asked if that record should be smeared.

Barkley said Eisenhower had denounced Taft "as a robber and a thief" before the campaign, but now "like goes and lies down on a beautifull mattress with Taft."

Contributions and expenditures of Truman's 1944 vice presidential campaign fund were given out in Kansas City last night by Tom L.
Evans, chairman of the fund, because he said, there has been repeated whispering that something was wrong. There wasn't, he said:
It was just a legal campaign fund.
Evans said a total of $33,390 was collected, $16,253 spent in regular campaign expenses, $5,200 refunded to certain donors, and $11-961 turned over to the national committee for the 1948 campaign.
He said the report had been duly filed, at the time, as was required by law.

Community Club of Littlestown and vicinity Wednesday evening in the P. O. S. of A. hall. Miss Cauley brought greetings from the commonwealth through the superintendent of public instruction, Dr.

Miss Cauley stated: "Independence was born here in Pennsylvania and independence has been preserved here" and, according to the present governor, "If the truth were told about Pennsylvania, the boasts of the Texans would seem very weak indeed."

In her "Pennsylvania Story," Miss Cauley told the club members about six women, whose lives in the state; the first of these women organized the Woman's Relief So-

ST. JOSEPH'S PTA COMMITTEES OF YEAR ARE NAMED

The first meeting of the 1952 semester of the St. Joseph's High School Parent-Teachers Association was held on Tuesday evening in the Dominic Greco presiding. From 7 until 7:30 the parents and teachers visited together. The meeting was

IKE VS. ADLAI FUSS GOES ON AT COLUMBIA U.

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty Columbia University faculty members issued a pro-Eisenhower statement yesterday and 300 pro-Stevenson adherents at Columbia countered with a full-page newspaper advertisement.

The GOP ticket is headed by Dwight D. Eisenhower, on leave without pay as president of Columbia.

Yesterday 30 Columbia faculty members and administrators—including football coach Lou Little—signed a statement calling the Republican nominee "the best qualified candidate for the office."

The statement was issued by Dr. Harry J. Carman, dean emeritus of Columbia College, the university's undergraduate college for men.

Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Journalism School announced his support of Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, Tuesday night.

A full-page ad backing Stevenson signed by 300 faculty and staff members, appeared in today's New York Times.

The advertisement said "the high level of his (Stevenson's) campaign is a landmark in the history of American politics."

The advertisement said it was paid for by "the volunteers for Stevenson on the Columbia University faculties and staff, and their families and friends."

TRUMAN TELLS NEW ENGLAND BREAD, BUTTER RIDE ON BALLOT

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
EN ROUTE WITH TRUMAN THROUGH CONNECTICUT (P)—President Truman told New England voters today that their "bread and butter" and their chance for world peace are tied up in the 1952 election.

And he renewed his onslaught on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by saying the GOP presidential nominee has abetted Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's "scurrilous, big-lie attack" on Gen. George C. Marshall. "I know many a baseball fan who was rooting for the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series just because the Yankees had won too many times," the President said. "It was time for a change."

Not A Beauty Contest
"But you're not rooting at a ball game when you go to the polls Nov. 4. This isn't a ball game. And it isn't a beauty contest. This is your bread and butter. This is your chance of world peace."

That was in a speech prepared for a campaign rally at Hartford during intensive campaigning in Connecticut, New Hampshire and Massachusetts from early morning until late at night. Moving by train and automobile with his daughter Margaret on the first lap of a three-day tour ending up in Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday night, Truman said in his prepared Hartford address that Eisenhower has "compromised every principle of personal loyalty by abetting the scurrilous big-lie attack on Gen. George C. Marshall."

GOP Blind, Thoughtless
He said Marshall, Eisenhower's "own commanding officer" in the second world war, is a man "who stands in a class by himself as a patriot devoted to the service of his country."

Asserting the Republicans have lost elections "for good reason," Truman declared: "The Republicans lost because they've put in 20 years of blind thoughtless opposition to almost everything the Democratic party has done to help the ordinary citizen."

Pits It On GOP
"They lost because they've been dominated by special privilege, by the lobbies—because they've always voted with the special interests and against the people."

"They lost because they've been against world co-operation, against a healthy foreign trade, against aid to other peoples."

"They lost because they've been against minorities of all kinds, against the immigration into this country of Jews and Catholics, against equality of opportunity."

COURT STUDIES GAS PRICE SIGNS

HARRISBURG (P)—Five judges of Dauphin County Court today studied testimony in a case protesting the constitutionality of a 1951 law limiting price signs at gas stations in Pennsylvania to 12 inches square.

In argument before the court yesterday, David Goldberg, Philadelphia, attorney for Charles Gambone, Norristown service station operator, termed the law an "unwarranted exercise of police power."

Decision Later
"It deprives the little gasoline station operator of his right to advertise and is an unlawful restriction of trade," Goldberg asserted.

Gambone some time ago instituted an equity suit asking the court to restrain State Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner and Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, from enforcing the act. Deputy Atty. Gen. Henry F. Stambaugh maintained that the act was designed to prevent gasoline price wars and frauds in sign advertising.

The court will hand down its decision later, with Judge Walter R. Sohn writing the opinion.

SWEET GUM AS A SHADE TREE

Throughout the Appalachian foothills of southern and eastern Ohio, eastern Kentucky, and West Virginia the name "Gum" is applied to a well known tree which by no means merits the name. Usually it is called Black Gum but many persons refer to it as Sour Gum. From northern Virginia southward throughout the Atlantic coast region the name of "Gum" designates a beautifully shaped tree whose leaves resemble those of sugar maples. In numerous cases this tree is called Sweet Gum.

What are the distinctions among these so-called "Gum" trees? To what tree are the names of "Blue" and "Gray". Gums applied in California?

It is quite simple to straighten out the "Gum" tree tangle by recognizing one basic fact — There is no genus or species of tree that can be correctly called "Gum" tree, regardless of how many adjectives, such as "red" or "sweet" or "sour" or "gray" or "blue" we attach to designate it.

The so-called gum of the Appalachian foothills first mentioned above is actually the Tupelo tree, properly listed in nursery catalogues as Nyssa sylvatica. As the winter remembers from boyhood experience, the wood defies efforts to split it by any means less violent than dynamite or TNT. Therefore, it is not a valuable timber tree although it makes an unusually attractive shade tree because of its brilliant autumn foliage. It is extremely hardy and has no insect enemies or diseases.

The "Gum" of California are all species of the Eucalyptus genus. Among species and their common names are gray gum, lemon gum, desert gum, blue gum, red gum, sugar gum, Port Gregory gum, and perhaps others — all members of the Eucalyptus genus and found only in warm parts of the world, in southern California in this country.

So, what is the tree known as "Gum" found from the Gulf states northward to New England?

It is correctly listed as Liquidambar styraciflua, commonly but erroneously called Sweet Gum. When the speaker employs this name within hearing of a Californian he suggests a species of Eucalyptus; if the hearer is an Ohioan, Kentuckian or West Virginian, the designation of "gum" imparts the idea of their own particular "gum" tree — Tupelo or Nyssa.

The species of Liquidambar mentioned here is the only species found in the western hemisphere. It is extremely hardy, and so far as the editor can learn after several years of observation and inquiry, no insects attack it and no diseases affect it. These factors alone commend it highly in these years when diseases and pests are taking so heavy a toll of old favorite shade trees.

At a short distance this tree may easily be mistaken for a sugar or white maple because its leaves are similarly shaped. But its bark, even on young trees, is deeply corrugated and closer inspection reveals many other differences. In general shape it deserves a place among finest shade trees. With plenty of room it develops a graceful spreading form; if somewhat crowded it takes on a columnar shape.

Native specimens may be moved easily in late winter and early spring. In experiments over the last three years we have moved these trees successfully from late October until early April. They should be pruned back rather severely after transplanting.

GROWING LILY OF THE VALLEY

It is always difficult to appraise intelligently the reasons why ornamental plant growers prefer certain flowers over others. Such choices are rarely based on merits. For example, few flowering perennials excel the stately delphinium, yet it is found in relatively few gardens. The same is true of hardy lilies. But on the other side of the ledger are found growers attempting the culture of ornamentals more difficult to grow and with fewer merits. These observations logically lead to a discussion of the beautiful and fragrant lily-of-the-valley or Convallaria.

Here is one of the hardest of all ornamentals. To date no serious insect enemies or diseases have been reported affecting it. It thrives in sun or shade and is one of the few better perennials for growing on the north sides of walls and buildings where so few other flowers succeed. Not only do Convallarias bear beautiful flowers of rare fragrance, but the plants make one of the better carpeting ornamentals. And it is so hardy that it can be propagated even by beginners without failures. By its spreading root system the plants multiply rapidly to permit increased plantings by divisions.

New beds may be started by planting divisions from old beds or by use of commercial roots or pips. In either case planting is a task for late October or early November.

In few instances where this flower is grown are these two errors absent: First, it is grown in a neglected, unsuitable bed where the soil is insufficiently mellow or fertile; next, no thinning, feeding or other degree of care is employed to bring out the maximum beauties of foliage and flowers.

Convallarias should have a deep, mellow, well drained loam on the east or north sides of a building. Pulverized cattle manure gathered from a summer pasture after it is thoroughly weathered, along with leafmold from the floor of a hardwood forest should be worked into the present soil to a depth of at least 12 inches or more. The leafmold is necessary because this plant prefers an acid soil reaction. In no case should competition from roots of trees or shrubs be tolerated.

Pips or divisions of roots should be planted about three inches apart and the crowns covered no more than two inches deep. They may be started in solid beds or in border rows. In the latter case it is advisable to set two rows and stagger the roots.

One of main keys to success with convallarias is to divide and replant beds every three or four years or whenever the plants begin to crowd. Of course, where they are grown for ground cover, this operation is neither necessary nor desirable.

Housewives who wish to force convallarias indoors for winter blooms may pot commercial pips any time from early fall until mid-winter, four to six to a six-inch pot. Vigorous roots from an established bed may be used instead of pips. In either case the tips should be barely covered with soil. No period of dark storage is needed for root development. The potted pips or roots are placed directly in a sunny window and the soil kept moist but not wet. After winter blooming these plants may be moved in early spring to an outdoor bed.

SURVEYING ELM DISEASES

Letters of inquiry from readers over the past six months indicate that the Dutch elm disease is taking an increased toll from the declining numbers of this favorite shade tree. And to make matters worse, another widespread elm menace, known only by the name of phloem necrosis, may already be affecting trees in this region.

The Dutch elm disease entered the United States in the early 1920s in New Jersey. From its focal point it has spread gradually until now it is prevalent as far west as Wyoming and from New England southward into Tennessee and North Carolina. It is by far the most exterminating tree disease to appear since the destructive chestnut blight of several years ago.

Phloem necrosis is particularly severe throughout the central Mississippi and Ohio river valleys, extending westward to include

Kansas and Nebraska and southward to the Gulf of Mexico. Maps of the infection area do not include Pennsylvania and Maryland within the scope of present danger, although isolated cases are likely occurring in both of these farthest-east states.

Dutch elm disease can be positively diagnosed only by a careful laboratory examination. But where elm trees show a sudden wilting of the leaves, with a yellowing and thinning of the foliage, it is advisable to consult a reputable tree surgeon or submit specimens of infected wood to a state experiment station. Owners may make a fairly reliable diagnosis by cutting off branches with suspected infection and examining the wood for the telltale brown coloring in one or more of the annual rings. This discoloration may be seen as a few spots, a stippling, or a partial or complete ring.

Such discoloration always accompanies the Dutch elm disease.

Phloem necrosis is more easily diagnosed. Foliage symptoms are similar to those of the Dutch elm disease. But the bark of an infected tree shows evidences plainly. But off a section of bark from the trunk base or large root and examine the inner layer next to the wood. If this bark is yellowish or a butter-scotch shade or flecked with brown or black, the tree is likely to be infected with phloem necrosis. The final proof is almost invariably positive. Strip out a small piece of the discolored inner bark and place it in a small stoppered vial. Hold the vial in your closed hand for several minutes to warm the bark and the air inside the vial. If elm phloem necrosis is present, there will be a faint odor resembling wintergreen. If the closed vial is kept for several hours in a warm place the odor will be more pronounced.

There is no cure for phloem necrosis. Dutch elm disease may occasionally be checked when symptoms are discovered early and all affected branches are promptly pruned out and burned. Prevention is an important step in control of both diseases. Spraying in late spring and summer to kill carrying insects and the complete removal and destruction of all infected trees from the neighborhood are responsibilities every elm owner should face honestly and intelligently.

The editor will gladly answer all related questions readers wish to ask on these important subjects. Please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

All citizens should write their Congressman for free copies of Leaflet 329 — Control Of Dutch Elm Disease And Elm Phloem Necrosis.

IKE CAMPAIGNS ALONG EASTERN SEABOARD AREA

By DON WHITEHEAD
NEW YORK (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower pointed his hard-driving campaign toward the Eastern Seaboard today with scarcely a pause in the rush that has carried him to the Pacific Coast and back.

He flew into New York last night from a journey that started Sept. 30 and carried him through 28 states in 16 days by train, plane and automobile.

He has scheduled a grueling campaign for the days remaining before the election Nov. 4—with only Saturdays and Sundays off in the whistle stopping. He appeared to be standing the grind with surprising bounce.

Starts At Noon
With a good night's rest behind him, he will leave at noon today by automobile for Hackensack and Paterson, N. J. He will speak tonight at the Alured E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel here.

Tomorrow he will set out on a 10-day concentrated sweep by train and plane into the New England states, New York and Pennsylvania. He is expected to concentrate his time and energy in the remaining days before election in the vote heavy states of the Eastern Midwest.

Yesterday, he made his final bold bid for support of the solid South by attempting to stir political rebellion in Texas, Louisiana and Tennessee.

Large Crowds In South
In Ft. Worth, Dallas, Shreveport, Memphis and Knoxville, large and noisy crowds turned out to welcome him and heighten GOP hopes that Dixie isn't as solid as it has been in the past.

He said the opposition's "big guns and little guns" were telling "plain lies" in saying his election would threaten another depression, threaten the social gains that have been made, and bring an end to public power development.

In his two stops in Tennessee, he took pains to declare his election would not "impair the effective working out" of the Tennessee Valley Authority program.

Praises TVA
In Oregon last week, the general spoke out in opposition to federal authorities as the means of developing river basin resources. He proposed instead a co-operative program in which local, state and federal officials would work out the problems together.

Speaking in Memphis, however, he praised the TVA as a "great experiment."

But he said TVA should not be regarded as the "rigid pattern for such development in other regions." And he added that he favored an arrangement which would make state and federal agencies "true partners" in resources development.

STEVENSON IS GIVEN OVATION IN COW PALACE

By JACK BELL

WITH STEVENSON IN CALIFORNIA (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign showed signs of catching fire today as he lashed out with fresh vigor against Dwight D. Eisenhower's "crusade."

Flushed with the enthusiasm of his biggest and noisiest campaign meeting—in San Francisco last night—the Democratic presidential nominee accused Eisenhower of attempting to ride two political horses in California.

Scolding at what Eisenhower calls his "crusade," Stevenson said his Republican opponent had felt it necessary to take different positions in different states. The Illinois governor declared in a speech prepared for delivery from the Capitol steps in Sacramento:

Boo Nixon Mention
"Here in California he has tried the delicate job of being both a Warren Republican and a Nixon Republican."

Stevenson repeated a virtual endorsement of Republican Gov. Earl Warren—an endorsement that won applause from a Democratic audience which bulged San Francisco's Cow Palace.

The same audience, the most responsive he has had in his travels, booed lustily when he mentioned the name of Eisenhower's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

Alludes To Nixon Report
Stevenson said last night that Nixon had proposed an investigation of the "extravagant charges" made against Gen. George C. Marshall, Eisenhower's good friend, adding:

"I have heard in his travels, booted lustily when he mentioned the name of Eisenhower's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California."

Rock The Rafter
"From my mail, from the growth of switch clubs, I have a hunch that a lot of people, Republicans and independents, have decided that it is indeed time for a change—to the Democratic ticket," he said.

The crowd rocked the rafters as he declared:

"As for Nixon, we would take his enthusiasm for investigation and disclosure more seriously if he would do a more complete job on himself."

This was an allusion to Nixon's explanation of an $18,000 fund raised by Californians to pay some of the senator's expenses.

Stevenson said in an address prepared for a University of California audience at Berkeley that intellectual freedom faces a threat from those who "crusade against communism in the hope thereby to smother all ideas and silence all dissent."

Nixon has contended he brought Alger Hiss to justice and has criticized Stevenson for giving Hiss a character reference.

Cheered By 23,000
"My opponent in this campaign has made his peace — on their terms—with men who fear the future and hate the present," the Democratic nominee declared.

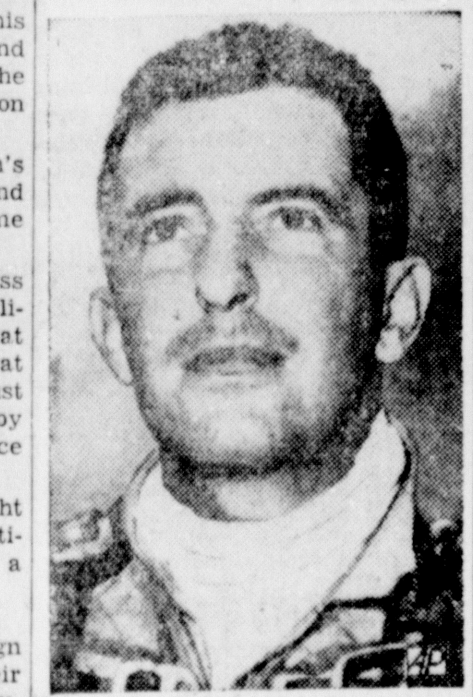

"What he still calls his crusade only for a past that is dead and cannot be disinterred."

It was a wildly cheering reception that the estimated crowd of 23,000 gave Stevenson.

Stevenson heaped ridicule on what he said was the "team of isolationists and cut-throat reactionaries" he contended Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was quarterbacking for Eisenhower.

Rock The Rafter
"From my mail, from the growth of switch clubs, I have a hunch that a lot of people, Republicans and independents, have decided that it is indeed time for a change—to the Democratic ticket," he said.

The crowd rocked the rafters as he declared:

Maj. Alexander J. "Rocky" Gillis, a Marine flier who was detached from his unit for a 90-day tour of duty as a fighter-bomber pilot with the Air Force, shot down three Red MIGs, probably destroyed a fourth and damaged three more in the Korean air war. His feats earned him the title of "90-day wonder" of the Air Force.

"The general's team is not the forward-looking Republicans who fought for his nomination in Chicago. It is the Old Guard and the Old Guard never changes—except for the worse. They don't even fade away."

When a baby kangaroo first enters his mother's pouch and attaches itself to a teat, the teat enlarges so that the baby cannot, for a considerable time, be released without rupturing its mouth.

SCRIBE FAVORS ROTATION OF PARTY POWER

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—When one party has been in and the other out for 20 years, that's long enough to provide more than just ordinary campaign ammunition.

It's long enough to develop, through endless repetition extended over a generation, a new kind of American folklore with myths and bogeymen now long familiar to men, women and children.

Now as before the Republicans treat the New Deal and the "Fair Deal" as if they were giants creeping through the garden of American life in order to get close enough to smash the door and demolish the furniture.

And as if they were shaking a tattered witch before our eyes, the Democrats, as they have been doing for years, hold up a warning that the horrible "Republican" depression may get us if we don't watch out.

All Have Slogans

Depending on his party, every candidate starting out has on hand a tried-and-tested collection of slogans, legends and American scare words like isolationism, socialism, McCarthyism.

But it's questionable whether mention of them changes any votes, even though the voters cheer or hiss.

They've become so familiar, have sunk so deeply into the American consciousness, have been debated and thought about so long, that by this time most people have formed full opinions and standard reactions.

Recently a correspondent on one of the campaign trains wrote: "The candidate of the party out of power has more ammunition than the nominee of the party in power. One may criticize whatever has been done."

This is true, but in a limited way.

True, responsibility for anything that's been done, in decisions made or laws passed, rests finally on the doorstep of the party which controlled Congress and the executive branch.

Should Rotate Rule

It would be true if the two big political parties regularly rotated office every four years since even four years of one administration would provide the opposition with a handful of things to criticize.

And it's particularly true in the case of the Democrats, who have

IKE TO PUT U. S. 'ON RIGHT TRACK'

FT. WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower promised Wednesday a Republican administration would use "the full power of the government" to prevent another depression.

The GOP candidate told a wind chilled cheering crowd that the Democrats were trying to frighten the people with scare talk about another depression—and he declared such a thing would never happen.

Over 7,000 in Crowd Eisenhower touched off a roaring cheer today when he called for controlled both Congress and the executive branch for the past 20 years except for two years.

But, while the party in for 20 years provides the outs with a wider target than if it had been in for only four, the 20-year outs provide juicier pickings than if they had been out for only four.

In 20 years the out-party is bound to develop a character of its own and a history that can be examined. In that much time it becomes pretty clearly identified in the public mind with a predictable attitude.

an administration that will get this country "on the right track once again."

He lashed the Truman administration's record as a "sorry one," and the crowd whipped it up when he called for "the kind of government American citizens should have—and can have."

The GOP presidential candidate jibed at the Democratic "big guns and little guns" going around the country "trying to sell fear." And he denied that a GOP leadership would destroy the social gains that have been made. He called such charges "just plain bunk."

Police estimated the crowd gathered at Union Station at between 7,000 and 10,000.

HEAR DETECTIVE IN MURDER CASE

BALTIMORE (AP)—A detective testified Wednesday George Edward

Grammer told him the accelerator of Mrs. Grammer's car developed a habit of sticking two weeks before it plunged into a bank with her body inside.

The state contends that Grammer beat his 33-year-old wife to death and then sent her car rolling down the grade to make it appear she was killed in a traffic accident.

State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro said Grammer plotted his wife's death because he was "hopelessly in love" with a 28-year-old Canadian, Martha M. Mizebrock.

The state is making much of the fact that a pebble was found wedged under the death car's accelerator in a place which would keep it depressed so gas would feed.

Det. Sgt. John Gordon Holmes testified on the second day of Grammer's trial on a murder charge that he interviewed Grammer for two and a half hours the night of August 20, about 20 hours after Dorothy May Grammer died. He was accompanied by Det. Sgt. Barto Tinsley.

4 FIRMS BATTLE FOR TV RIGHTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four applicants contended Wednesday for the right to use two television channels now available to Harrisburg, Pa.

With two firms seeking each channel, they carried the contests before Communications Commissioner William G. Butts.

WABX, Inc., and Harrisburg Broadcasters, Inc., both of Harrisburg, asked for Channel 71. The Kendrick Broadcasting Co., Inc., and the Rossmore Corp., also Harrisburg concerns, sought Channel 27.

Harrisburg's third channel, No. 55, will be served by WHP, Inc., which now is building a station.

The WABX application for Channel 71 is signed by H. O. Bishop and W. T. Wright, president and vice president, respectively, of the WABX standard broadcasting sta-

SOON WILL FIRE ATOMIC SHELL

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. (AP)—The Army let it be known today it is getting ready to fire the first "live ammunition" atomic shell from its big, 280 millimeter "all purpose" gun.

At a public showing of the gun here Secretary of the Army Frank Pace was asked by reporters whether the Army has ammunition to fit the gun and whether it has been fired yet.

He replied: "It has not been fired but you will be advised when it is ready to be fired."

He said that while actual atomic ammunition has not been shot from the gun, a projectile capable of taking a nuclear fission charge has been used.

USE OUR CONVENIENT LAY-AWAY PLAN

This is the 32nd in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGCT by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events, and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

In the more than 150 years of the separate existence of Adams County, it has had its share of public officers representing the larger districts of both the state and federal government of which Adams County has been a part. It has had its share of state senators in the senatorial district, as well as its share of congressmen in the congressional districts as they have been arranged. However, it has had just one United States Senator. Possibly that is all that might well be expected of a small county, and it might be said that this has been a fair share.

The sole United States Senator coming out of Adams County was James Cooper. He was admitted to the bar of Adams County on April 28, 1834. For much of the information in this article I am indebted to George W. Baker, of Abbottstown, president of the Adams County Historical Society.

Born In Frederick
James Cooper was born in 1810, on a farm near Frederick, Md., of a family of meager circumstances. In his late teens he attended Mount St. Mary's College for one year, and then entered Washington College in western Pennsylvania, from which he graduated in 1832. After taking a business course in a school in Philadelphia, he began the study of law in the office of Thaddeus Stevens in Gettysburg.

On April 28, 1834, having completed his course of study, he was admitted to the bar of Adams County. The committee which examined him, and recommended his admittance was composed of Charles D. Penrose, Andrew G. Miller and Frederick Watts. In 1838 he was elected to represent the congressional district at that time composed of the counties of Adams and Franklin, in the Congress of the United States.

At that election his name was on the Democratic-Anti-Masonic ticket, headed by Joseph Ritner, a candidate for re-election as Governor of Pennsylvania. He defeated Daniel Sheffer, the incumbent, a former associate judge of Adams County, his majority in Adams County off setting his defeat in Franklin County, where the Anti-Masons were not so strong. He was re-elected to congress in 1840 when he again defeated Sheffer.

At the same time that Cooper control of the state government, was slightly under Whig control, and Johnson was the leader of the Whigs.

Shortly after beginning his second term as Governor, Shunk's health failed, so seriously that he was finally forced to resign his office. He died shortly afterward. As there was no office of lieutenant-governor under the constitution then in effect, but provision was made for the president or speaker of the senate to succeed to the governorship in the event of a vacancy in that office, the choice of the president or speaker at this point was very important.

The practice had been to elect such a presiding officer at the close of the session of the legislature. It had also been the practice to elect a senator who had served at least two sessions for this honor. In the opinion of the leaders of the senate, Johnson was rated as the best fitted to serve as Governor if there should be a vacancy, in view of the Governor's impaired health. Johnson was therefore elected, and not long afterward Governor Shunk resigned, being careful, however, to do so at a time for an election of Governor at the regular October election. After Johnson had been sworn in as Governor he issued the necessary proclamation for the election.

Cooper, having been defeated for the nomination a year before by Irvin, who in turn had been defeated by Shunk, now argued that he was the logical Whig candidate for the governorship. The Whig leaders who had brought about Johnson's election as speaker of the senate, and consequently put him in position to succeed to the governorship, would have none other than Johnson. Cooper reluctantly withdrew, and Johnson appointed him attorney general as a peace offering. It was generally understood that if Johnson was elected in October for a full three-year term as Governor, Cooper would be supported for the United States senatorship in January, 1849.

Wins By 297 Votes

Johnson was elected by a majority of only 297 votes, which was a greater victory than would seem on the surface, as only three times before the Civil War had any but Democrats been elected governors of Pennsylvania. A more remarkable fact, however, was that the two houses of the legislature tallied, as a result of this election, 67 Whigs, 62 Democrats, and two American Party members, thus giving the Whigs control of decisions in any joint session.

In the election of October, 1848, Cooper was again elected to represent Adams County in the House of Representatives. He resigned his office of attorney general on December 30, 1848, and took his seat in the legislature in January, 1849, and announced himself a candidate for election as United States senator. There was trouble among the Whig membership, some having refused to attend the caucus, and to be bound by the nomination of the caucus, which was for Cooper. Consequently on the first ballot of the joint session of the two houses, convened to elect a United States senator Broadhead, the Democratic nominee, received 62 votes, Cooper received 57, Thaddeus Stevens received 7, William M. Meredith received 3 and two votes were cast for the American Party candidate, George Frear.

As 66 votes were necessary to elect, there was no election on either the first or second ballots. On the third ballot Cooper received 66 votes and was declared elected.

Cooper was disappointed in not securing Johnson's help in this contest, and ever thereafter he two were at odds. He especially, as United States senator, opposed Governor Johnson's nominations of Whig party members for appointment by the Whig administration in power at Washington at that time. This caused him the loss of the support of Whigs of Pennsylvania, and in 1855 when his term as United States senator expired, he was not even a candidate for re-election.

In consideration of the promise of his first ten years in public office, it is most regrettable that his last six years were so disappointing both to him and to his friends. Soon after the expiration of his term as senator, he removed to Frederick, Md., where he established his residence and opened an office for the practice of law. He died in 1863.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Democratic claims that Gov. Adlai Stevenson will carry Pennsylvania Nov. 4 are "hogwash," says G. Mason Owlett, Pennsylvania's Republican national committeeman.

Owlett made his statement Wednesday in response to a claim made "Everywhere I have found sentiment against the Stevenson-ADAs (Americans for Democratic Action) ticket. I am confident that Gen. Eisenhower and the entire G. ticket will carry Pennsylvania by a margin of 300,000 or more."

RESTLESSNESS SWEEPS ACROSS U. S. COAL FIELDS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Reports of growing restlessness came from the nation's coal fields today in the wake of a strike threat tossed at the industry by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Several thousand miners are off the job to back up demands for a pay hike being held up pending approval by the Wage Stabilization Board.

While there is no indication that the walkouts will spread quickly, both coal operators and the miners are keeping a close watch on Washington for developments.

Anxiety Over WSB

The miners' anxiety over whether the WSB will approve the pay hike negotiated for them by Lewis was heightened yesterday when the mine chieftain told his members to refuse to work after Nov. 18 unless mine operators have made their increased royalty payments to the UMW welfare fund by that date.

The contract, now up before the WSB, called for an increase in the royalty payments of from 30 to 40 cents a ton in the soft coalfields. The contract also provides a wage boost of $1.90 a day.

In winding up the UMW Convention at Cincinnati, Lewis told delegates the contract specifies that each operator certify by Nov. 18, and the 18th of each month thereafter, that he has paid the royalty covering production for the previous month. Lewis added:

Miners Walk Out

"I don't want any union to go to work on the 18th unless it is found that the welfare is paid. There are no ifs, and buts about it. The morning of the 18th is the deadline."

Shortly after Lewis spoke five Southern West Virginia mines employing some 2,100 men were closed by a walkout. Closest source to the UMW said the men, apparently stayed home awaiting the WSB's approval of the $1.90 pay boost.

Approximately 3,155 Kentucky miners were reported on strike. Another 1,200 were off the job at four mines of Republic Steel Corp. in Western Pennsylvania.

There were smaller groups out in Illinois and Ohio. From Washington came reports the WSB is expected to reach a vote by the end of this week.

STOLEN BABY FOUND WITH NEW MOTHER

NEW YORK (AP)—A stolen week-old girl was found yesterday with a woman whose own new-born baby lies sick in a hospital.

The baby, Gloria Hernandez, was taken from Bellevue Hospital Sunday by a woman who asked for it by name. The attendant, presuming she was its mother, Mrs. Rafael Hernandez, gave it to her.

The alleged abduction was discovered 24 hours later when Gloria's real mother asked for her baby.

A police check of all new mothers recently in Bellevue led to the apartment of Mrs. Carmen Rodriguez, 32. There, police said, they found Gloria — apparently unharmed.

Mrs. Rodriguez' baby girl was born Sept. 28, suffering from congenital adhesions of the intestines. The child is in an incubator at Bellevue, being fed intravenously.

Booked on a kidnaping charge, Mrs. Rodriguez told police she had applied for home relief and was informed she lacked certain papers and evidence that she had a baby to support.

There is far more life in shallow than in deep parts of the sea.

MUSIC IS TOPIC FOR ROTARIANS

The Music Committee, the Rev. David S. Kammerer and L. Robert Snyder, were in charge of the program presented at the meeting of the Littlestown Rotary Club on Tuesday evening at Schott's Hotel. The program opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag, singing of "America" and the invocation was given by the Rev. Mr. Kammerer. Group singing took place, led by the Rev. Mr. Kammerer with Wilbur Reck as piano accompanist. Mr. Snyder introduced vocalists, Patsy Crouse and Stewart N. Long, who sang three duets, "Make Believe," "Tiptoe Through the Tulips" and "Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline?" accompanied by Miss Shirley Hawk.

Rodney L. Law, head of the art department of the Littlestown Joint School System, was presented to the group. Mr. Law gave a discourse, with illustrations on a blackboard, of the development of music and art in general, with emphasis on rhythm, melody and harmony. One visiting Rotarian was present, the Rev. Dr. Nevin E. Smith of Hanover, who was introduced by Rev. Mr. Kammerer. The club president, Theron W. Spangler, presided for the meeting.

Next Tuesday evening at 6:15 o'clock, Fours Night will be observed when each Rotarian is invited to bring a farmer friend to the meeting. E. C. Ramsey, analyst, lecturer and an authority on international affairs, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Ramsey, a former newspaperman, is a very interesting speaker and will bring a fine address. The program is in charge of the International Service Committee composed of Cloy I. Crouse, chairman, Ernest W. Dunbar, Paul E. King, Frank J. Krocak, Dr. Donald B. Coover and Charles E. Rabenstein.

Rebuilding Organ
The Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed Church, has announced that the church organ, which is to be rebuilt by the First Organ Company of York, will be removed next Wednesday and Thursday. While the present organ is being repaired, the Hammond organ owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Crouse will be installed and used about five weeks. It is expected that the rebuilt organ will be completed and ready for installation early in December. A dedication of the organ will take place sometime later. The definite date will be announced.

It has been announced that the Littlestown Fish and Game Association will hold a shooting match on Friday, November 7, not November 14, as previously stated, so as not to interfere with the smoker to be held on November 14 by the Alpha Fire Company. The committee on arrangements for the shooting match is composed of Charles W. Weikert, Dr. Richard M. Phreaner, Glenn Bowers, James U. Bowers, W. E. Stites, Edgar DeGroot, Charles H. Fissel, Paul L. Hollinger and G. Richard Knipple. The organization will hold its first fall match on Friday, October 24.

The program presented included: Group singing, with Miss Phyllis Higinbotham as piano accompanist; Scripture reading, Psalm 146 from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, by Mrs. Lloyd E. PENNSY MILK OUTPUT RISES

HARRISBURG (P)—Milk production of Pennsylvania farms during September totaled 455 million pounds or one million above the output for the same period last year, the State Agriculture Department said today.

A federal-state survey showed that the seasonal decline from August was less than usual and total production for the month only four per cent below August.

Milk production throughout the state from January through September this year totaled 4,371,000,000 pounds compared with 4,353,000,000 pounds for the same period last year, the survey revealed.

The department announced yesterday an all-time record for September egg production by Pennsylvania chicken flocks.

The month's output of 263 million eggs was 18 million more than August, a federal-state survey showed. The production exceeded September of 1951 by seven per cent.

The average price of eggs in September rose 1.5 cents to 61.5 cents a dozen. This still was 3.5 cents below the September 1951 average, the department said.

When the highway to Alaska through Canada was first opened to the public, Canada required permits from motorists who wished to use the road. Now the increased number of service stations and other aids to travelers have made such permits unnecessary.

Court Will Hear Perryopolis Appeal

UNIONTOWN, Pa., (P)—The Fayette County Court expects to hear arguments soon on an appeal from a ruling permitting the community of Perryopolis to form a borough government.

The little Fayette County community was granted the right to incorporate by Judge S. John Morrow. Advocates of the action claim it will help the town administer to a 1 1/4 million dollar legacy.

The appeal was filed yesterday by Atty. John Spurgeon who said incorporation of Perryopolis will leave the remainder of Perry Township destitute. Perryopolis is now part of Perry Township.

The legacy was left the community of Mrs. Mary Fuller Fraizer, who died in Philadelphia in 1948. She was a native of Perryopolis.

Draft Dodger Is Sentenced To Prison

SCRANTON, Pa., (P)—One man was sent to prison and sentence deferred on another after they were convicted of different charges today in Federal Court.

Richard E. Bender, 22, Ickesburg, found guilty of evading the draft, was given two years in prison. A student at Messiah Bible College, Bender told the court his religious beliefs would not permit him to go to war.

James H. Griggs, Sunbury, Pa., tried without a jury on a charge of impersonating an FBI agent, was adjudged guilty and will be sentenced later.

7TH PA. WEEK IS OBSERVED ACROSS STATE

HARRISBURG (P)—The seventh annual "Pennsylvania Week" reached the mid-way mark today as 104 million citizens continued to sing praises of their commonwealth.

Pittsburghers climbed aboard a specially decorated streetcar that Wednesday began a series of daily runs circling the downtown business district.

Also in the travel mood, residents of Cambria and Somerset Counties participated in the second half of a "Tour of Towns" in the two counties.

Special Events
In the northwest, Erie workers saw the final day of a six-day industrial exhibit sponsored by the Erie Manufacturers' Association.

York County slated a day-long program of agricultural events featuring exhibits of the rich Central Pennsylvania farm land, while in Shippensburg a three-day agricultural exhibit under the auspices of the Future Farmers of America came to a close.

People throughout the commonwealth took time shortly after noon to observe a statewide air alert. The alert was followed by demonstrations in local schools illustrating each community's role in the civil defense effort.

On the industrial show calendar Easton wound up its three-day "Wheels of Industry" exhibit designed to demonstrate the average worker's place in the state and national defense effort.

ALLOWS IKE'S NAME IN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Tex. (P)—The Texas attorney general was ruled voters in this state can write the names of GOP nominees Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon in the Democratic column Nov. 4.

They can simply scratch out the names of the Democratic nominees and write in those of the Republican candidates, according to the ruling.

The ruling, requested by Gov. Allan Shivers who has turned against Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, could be of great significance in this state where Democratic party loyalty carries great weight.

The opinion also said the names of the Republican candidates for president and vice president may also be written in the ballot's write-in column.

In either case, the votes would be counted for the Republican Eisenhower-Nixon presidential election.

New Oxford

NEW OXFORD — The Women's Missionary Society of the Pines Lutheran Church, New Chester, met Tuesday evening at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Samuel M. Clarke, and wife.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Burnell W. Wagner, near here. Mrs. Wagner was formerly Miss Louise Thomas of New Jersey.

Sheffer, who is spending two weeks attending the convention of the United Lutheran Church in America, at Seattle, Wash.

COLUMBIA DEAN COMES OUT FOR GOV. STEVENSON

NEW YORK (P)—Politics bubbled anew on the Columbia University campus as a university administrator came out for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson despite a suggestion by the university's acting president to Columbia officers to remain silent on the presidential race.

Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the university's Graduate School of Journalism announced his support of the Democratic nominee Tuesday night.

It was another in a chorus of pro-Stevenson voices raised at Columbia, whose president, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, is on leave to seek the presidency on the Republican ticket.

Ackerman made his stand known on Tuesday in a telegram to Joseph Pulitzer, president and publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which is supporting Stevenson. It was not made clear why Ackerman directed his telegram to him. Pulitzer's father endowed the school of journalism.

Ackerman said that pro-Eisenhower forces at Columbia are trying to "give the impression that the university community is solidly back of Gen. Eisenhower whereas there is tremendous support for Gov. Stevenson."

Dr. Grayson Kirk, Columbia's acting president, said later he had "suggested" to a few Columbia administrative leaders to "refrain from public expression of their personal preference since to do so would suggest an official attitude" on the election.

Ackerman was the first university administrative official to come out for Stevenson. Last month a group of professors announced the formation of a Stevenson-for-president organization.

Shortly thereafter the Columbia Spectator, undergraduate newspaper, came out editorially for the Democratic nominee. Less than a week later a majority of the editorial board of the student paper at Barnard College announced support for Stevenson. Barnard is the women's college of the University.

A student Stevenson organization is matched by a student organization for Eisenhower. Good-natured rivalry has marked rallies held by the two student groups.

RADIO PIRATES

Among the many wonders conceived during the twentieth century the radio stands out above all as a symbol of mankind's achievement. But there are those that would take advantage of this modern marvel by exploiting so-called cure-alls and nostrums. Don't be misled or pay too much attention to the claims made by the promoters of such products. Only a Medical Doctor is qualified to diagnose and prescribe for illness. So by all means seek his advice first.
